RESTRICTIONS ON FOUNDATION PROJECTS:

- The donor may not personally select the beneficiaries of the money disbursed. An independent committee, consisting of at least three members within the University, must select recipients from a pool of qualified award candidates. (Scholarship only)
- Scholarships are to be published with an application deadline date. (Scholarship only)
- The donor may not act as project director or approving authority or benefit personally from the funds.
- The directors or approving authorities administrating the fund must be accountable for any inquiries from the donors, the IRS, internal or external auditors or the press on the appropriateness of expenditures.
- The expenditures must benefit the University and support the project's purpose.
- In accordance with the Internal Revenue Code Section 170, if contributions to a fund are earmarked by the donor for a particular individual, they are treated as being gifts to the designated individual and are not deductible as charitable contributions. However, a deduction is allowable where it is established that a gift is intended by the donor for the use of the organization and not as a gift to an individual.
